Big Interests Enter Alberta Oil Fields

Lethbridge, Alta.—That powerful interests are forming plans for active participation in the race of oil in Alberta, is further proven in the dramatic filing coup made at the local office of the Dominion Lands branch, Tuesday and Wednesday by a Toronto group said to represent New York interests. The identity of the men behind the scenes is not divulged. A total of 80,000 acres of leases in the Cypress Hills Dome, south-east of Medicine Hat and close to the Saskatchewan boundary, has been covered by the group. The first filing was for 20,000 acres, a second for a similar amount, and yesterday further acreage was acquired, bringing the whole block up to 80,000.

This unexpected lease acquisition rivals the coup of the O. G. Devensh Co., of Calgary, last June, when 80,000 acres in one block on the Skiff Dome was blanketed, acreage now being drilled by Devensh at 2300 feet. It is understood that the Marland Oil Company geologists discovered and mapped the structure last summer. The Henry L. Doherty Company, New York; Doherty Oil Company, Los Angeles; Union Oil of California; (Marland - Hudson's Bay; Imperial Standard) and the new but unknown New York Company are now definitely in the Southern Alberta field and the Anglo Persian have their scouts on the ground watching the situation. A score of smaller companies round out one of the biggest programs of oil explorations Canada has ever seen projected.

The Other Side

"Do you know the nature of an oath," demanded the K.C. "Faith! an' I do, sir."

"Are you aware," thundered the K.C., "you are commanded not to bear false witness against thy neighbor?"

"I am yer honor. But shure, I'm not bearin' false witness agin him, I'm bearin' false witness for him."

"So Ethel is your eldest sister. Who comes after her?"

"Nobody ain't come yet, but paws the first fellow that comes can have her."

A Very Heavy Snow Storm

After a few days of heavy winds, snow commenced to fall on Friday night, continuing throughout Saturday until late Sunday morning. The wind which accompanied the snow piled it up into high drifts some of them over four feet. It was very wet and clung to sides of buildings and much of it melted as it fell. It filled the fields, again with moisture making spring crop conditions excellent. It is one of the heaviest storms to visit this district at this season of the year.

International Grain Show

Regina is Planning for Big Congress

Plans for the holding of an international grain show at the 1927 summer exhibition in Regina to be followed by a World's Grain Congress during the 1928 exhibition were discussed at a meeting of the Regina Exhibition board recently.

The agricultural committee's report which was adopted by the full directorate expressed the conviction "that the present time is as well as most opportune for holding an international grain show at the Regina exhibition. In view of the fact that the other important centres are seriously considering similar action, but that the establishment of such a show this year would prove the most acceptable framework of the World's Grain Congress at Regina in 1927."

Following the show and keeping it up to international standards during this and the succeeding years, the greatest possible aid will be given toward a successful larger show in 1928. Speculating frankly, this is the ultimate aim of your committee, and the present plans for this year's international grain show, as well as the plans for the show of the following years, all centre around a World's Grain Congress at Regina in 1928.

"The discussion in committee brought out the wonderful possibilities of holding an international grain show here, with sufficient cash prizes and championship trophies offered to make it attractive as an international event and thus, by stimulating and increasing interest in this show each year, gradually prepare for the World's Grain Congress. There is no question in the mind of the members of your committee that Regina should lead as an international grain exhibiting centre or, at least, the logical place for the holding of a world's congress."

Prize money totaling $225 divided into 20 prizes will be offered in each of three classes—for spring wheat, Marquis variety; for any variety spring wheat, and for any other variety. Addition of other crops will be made from time to time, as the first three prove successful.

Reviving Forgotten Craft

Display of Tinselled Prints May Bring Art Apple Into Favor

In a little room behind a news agent's shop in Oldstreet, in the city of London, is hidden a craft which is one of the almost forgotten crafts which is once again being brought to the attention of new life.

It is the tinselling, in brilliant colors, of prints and portraits, and its only living expert is the proprietor of the shop, Mr. G. Webb, who, at a few months ago, was content to gaze upon his quiet treasures and to regard them as something irretrievably obsolete.

Then he was persuaded to exhibit 64 of them at the Faculty of Arts Gallery, and now they have become the latest craze among wealthy collectors.

Asked if there was really anything in the manner of a revival of this art, Mr. Webb said:

"They told me I have a collection that knocks the one in the London Museum into fits. I have sold quite a number lately, particularly to Americans, and a lot of people have been making inquiries."

"I hadn't troubled much about it till people started making a fuss, but I've done them"—indicating some framed pictures—"since the exhibition, and, of course, I may work up a business again."

"It was taught the work thoroughly as a boy, as was my father before me. It was his uncle who started the business, so I am of the third generation, and it is possible that my own way may be able to succeed me."

"I have 6,000 dies, most of them extremely small. I can add, by my knowledge, an new one has been made for at least 50 years, and many are quite a hundred years old."

"The greatest difficulty is getting the steel. No one else dies in getting the steel. No one else dies in getting the steel. No one else dies in getting the steel."

"The people of London, I suspect, will be in a position to be interested in it in a very real way. It has, in fact, been in a very real way. It has, in fact, been in a very real way."

"The people of London, I suspect, will be in a position to be interested in it in a very real way. It has, in fact, been in a very real way. It has, in fact, been in a very real way."

Improving the Tomato

Endeavoring to Secure Early Variety Without Lowering the Quality

Good progress is being made by the Dominion Horticulturist in developing by breeding and selection improved varieties of the tomato. An effort is being made to secure in early varieties the same excellence as some of the later sorts possess. Selected strains produced from crosses of Albany, Dunny Deet and Livingston Globe, when used in combination, are showing highly desirable improvement for earliness, with fine shape and quality of fruit. A feature of interest is that where a late maturing variety like the Livingston Globe was crossed with Dunny Deet a reduction in the number of days from sowing the seed to readiness for use was recorded. Over a cross between Albany and Dunny Deet, has given a most promising sort, possessing the earliness of Albany with the smoothness and symmetrical form of Dunny Deet. The quality of the fruit is said to be superior to Albany, being less acid.

Immigrants Guaranteed Work

British Immigrants Under Empire Settlement Plan to Be Looked After

J. S. Woodsword, (Labor, Winnipeg North Centre), in the House of Commons for an advertisement which appeared recently in the Glasgow Gazette of Scotland, stating that Canadian law was guaranteed employment by the Canadian government throughout the year. Mr. Woodsword asked if this was so and if not, would the department take steps to stop misrepresentation?

Hon. Robert Foster, minister of immigration, in reply, said that according to Canada, on the two point rule that such immigrants would remain in that employment. The department undertakes to keep track of those immigrants for five years, when, if arriving in the country, apart from the Empire settlement scheme came on their own responsibility, however.

Profitable for the Jeweler

Provincial Society Women in England Rent Gems Instead of Buying

Fondness of provincial society women for jewelry to wear on festive occasions has resulted in great extravagances. They simply do to the local jeweler and hire what they need for the evening.

In the west of England as well as several other midland towns the jewelry store is a meeting place for wealthy and aristocratic women who, in connection or dance is scheduled the jeweler lends out rings, bracelets, earrings and pendants at a moderate charge.

It is no uncommon thing for one store to have as much as £1,000 worth of jewelry in its stock at any evening. In many cases the wearer has the same article time after time and has paid sufficient money in small amounts to have purchased it outright.

Trains in Germany Slow

Berlin-Vienna Express Takes Twelve Hours for 300 Mile Trip

An effort to speed up German train service, especially on the international lines, has been prompted by the federal railway administration in response to numerous protests from the national chamber of commerce and tourists agencies.

The complaints point out that the even less Berlin-Prague express uses more than three hours to make the 200-mile trip to Dresden. The Berlin-Vienna train, which is an extra-fast train, requires 12 hours for the 300-mile trip, while the Paris and London express on the 19-hour stretch from Berlin to Cologne is scheduled on an average of 20 hours, and runs at 25 miles an hour, including numerous stops.

Puzzling Mental Minds

A four-month-old baby suffering from two spontaneous fractures of the humeri, which were found to be broken, caused the doctor, making a thorough examination. But none was able to explain the strange case.

"Why are you not working with the rest?" asked the lady visiting the surgeon.

"Oh, no, dear," was the candid reply. "The surgery didn't come in work."

"Yes," returned the female, "but I don't not so fast as that."

The native doctor in Japan is quite reliable and cowardly.

The Scourge Of Cancer

Lord Abolitionist's Plan Still Remains Unchanged

Will the next five years be more fruitful than the last five in the search for a cure of cancer? This question is a leading topic today, for it is just five years since Lord Abolitionist, millionaire proprietor of the Montreal Star, offered a prize of $25,000 to the "youngest student of any university who within five years after this date is the first to discover a medical treatment for the effective cure of cancer, the decision to be left to the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons in London, England."

This prize has not been won, although research workers throughout the world have been continuously struggling with the problem. Now there is a prospect of increasing sums of money being devoted to research, and Sir Berkeley, president of one of the world's greatest cancer experts, has issued a call for what he described as a "national uprising against the scourge."

Sir Berkeley is president of the Royal College of Surgeons, and in a meeting unique in British medical history, he has invited one of the persons that 100 of them would die of cancer.

Two separate questions remain to be answered: (1) What causes cancer? (2) What cures cancer? There is no necessary connection between the two questions. It would be quite possible to find a cure without knowing the cause, and vice versa. It would be quite possible to find a cure without knowing the cause, and vice versa.

In neither direction can the progress recently made be properly appreciated by anyone who is not an expert. For example, the famous work of Mr. Harned and Dr. Gye in isolating and examining certain ultra-microscopic organisms that are associated with cancer is far too technical and ambiguous for the lay mind, which demands clear-cut conclusions.

Yet these have been the most extraordinary performances during the past five years in an attempt to answer the question, "What causes cancer?" In local literature, it is asked: "Is there a cancer parasite?" Has cancer anything to do with the blood stream, and if so, can it be controlled by diet? These are some of the questions to a study of which research workers are devoting their lives.

Plans Flight to Tokio

A flight to Tokio, as well as to the North Pole is planned for the hussar, which is now under construction at Friedrichshafen, Germany, says Dr. Hugo Koenig, Zepplin expert. It is expected that the flight will be attempted in the autumn of 1928. The North Pole flight is planned in two days and that to Tokio in four. It is expected.

A London trader who keeps a black list of non-payers says Scotland and Wales are the worst. The worst are just average, while Wexham and Trisham are the worst.

Buying Autos By the Pound

Interesting Information Given in Survey by Cleveland Bank

How much do you pay for automobiles by the pound of course, motor cars aren't bought and sold that way, but the price per pound makes an interesting comparison. It has been figured out by a Cleveland bank for fourteen leading makes of closed cars.

In comparing cars of various manufacturers, it is to be remembered that a great deal more than mere weight of materials goes into motor cars. Mechanical quality, performance, power, strength, durability, style, workmanship, finish, are all to be considered.

But taking cars by their weight, it is found by the Cleveland Trust company that Ford gives the most for the money, and purely on the avoirdupois basis, Rolls Royce gives the least.

Here are the listed prices—by the pound: Ford, 25c; Chevrolet, 31c; Dodge, 32c; Overland, 35c; Star, 37c; Buick, 38c; Packard, 39c; Superduty, 40c; Oldsmobile, 41c; Hudson, 42c; Cadillac, 43c; Lincoln, 45c; Packard, 46c; Rolls Royce, $2.91.

It should be noted that the Cleveland institution to philosophize upon how much more the dollar can buy today per pound of iron, comfortable and fast vehicle than was possible a few years ago. It says:

"Twenty-five years ago a good bicycle would have cost $10, a good car $100, which was $4 per pound. The workmanship of the modern automobile is much faster than that of the bicycle, and the materials are of higher grade, but the cost per pound of automobile is lower than that of the bicycle. The cost of machinery, such as wheelwheels and clothes wringers, for example."

Has No-Existent Church

Vicar Alleged to Charge in Village Described as "Lost"

When the Rev. Mr. Morris, of Wolvey, takes charge of the Benefice of Burton Hastings and Stratton Bassville, England, shortly, he will be in charge of a church that no longer exists. The village of Stratton is known as the lost village. It existed in the time of Henry VIII, when the lord of the manor organized all his men to fight for the King at Bosworth Field. But Richard was defeated and Henry VIII, the conqueror, razed the village to the ground in order to revenge himself. Nothing but the ruins and woodland remain. On the site of the manor house there is a rabbit warren, and the spot where the church stood is now a cattle graze.

Disappointed Diamond Hunters

The London Daily Mail, Johannesburg, South Africa, correspondent, sent a discouraging account of the new Graffinet diamond field. He says that the diamond hunters, who are digging for diamonds, have found nothing but drabs and worthless stones. DADDY OF THEM ALL

Does More Through Job

Vacuum Cleaner is Used to Green Army Mules

The army mule is being clothed by the vacuum cleaner and flies it. Use of vacuum cleaners in place of grooming by hand has been noted in the current number of the Daily Mail.

The machine does a more thorough job and complete the work in less time than by hand, the story claims. An average of 100 to 150 mules are groomed every day, and each mule is groomed by a vacuum cleaner.

The effective way the vacuum cleaner is getting at the rest of the dirt that army mules and horses in duty areas are permitted to go through the winter months without the periodic clipping.

Nervousness disappeared after an application of the vacuum cleaner. It was reported that mules seemed to experience sensations of pleasure from the machine effect. The mules, in fact, now report that a mule is a mule, which the mules, dressed in green, are now being groomed by the vacuum cleaner and flies it.

Some people are criticized because they won't talk and some because they will.

Windmill as Power Source for Farmers

Tests to Determine Value Being Made at University of Saskatchewan

Experiments on energy harnessing in Western Canada at an average monthly cost that will probably be less than the light bill of the city dwellers is now a project. The project may become a reality is indicated by a promising experiment which is being conducted by the department of agricultural engineering at the University of Saskatchewan.

Founded on the use of the engine building is a contraption that works on the principle of a windmill which is turning up electricity at a rate that should meet the requirements of the average home. It is known as the Perkins Aeroclastic and has been under test since last October.

Literature

Canadian Writers Producing Fine Work Which People Should Read

Canada is the only civilized country in the world which does not make the systematic study of its own literature compulsory in the schools. Dr. Louis Pierce, of Toronto, told the Women's Canadian Club, at Regina recently, when remarks came in the course of an interesting address on "Canadian Literature and the National Idea."

There was a general opinion that Canadian literature did not amount to anything, many of the voices expressing it coming from the universities, which were obsessed with old world ideas he said. Yet some Canadian literature was second rate, some abominably poor, there was a small body of very fine work of which any country could be proud.

Dr. Pierce told of meeting a brilliant young woman Canadian University graduate recently, who turned up her nose when Canadian literature was mentioned. Asked what she knew about it, she had to admit that she knew nothing. "You can't have taken history in a French course, she could not name one French-Canadian writer. Yet ten French-Canadians had been crowned by the French Academy, Dr. Pierce said.

All the unfortunately about Canadian literature recently arising was necessary, she declared, for national self-preservation. Canada was not a full-grown nation as yet, just an adolescent nation, with all the defects of adolescence, including imitativens. We borrow our political institutions from Westminster, our literature from France, and our culture from New York. But borrowing in such a grand manner might result in the loss of our own identity. Canada has never yet made an important contribution to the world that ever felt itself to be a dependency," Dr. Pierce said. "It is the duty of Canadian clubs, of universities, of schools, to foster a sense of national self-consciousness, to teach the Canadian people to stand on their own feet and to contribute to the world."

In order that Canadians might know what they were, Canadian history and literature should be studied. Dr. Pierce traced the development of Canadian literature in a racy manner, vivid touches of description making his talk a treat for men and women. He paid particular tribute to Charles G. D. Roberts, Bliss Carman, Archibald Lampman, Duncan Campbell Scott, Pauline Johnson, and Marjorie Pickthall, names which, he said, had rung around the world, and brought glory to Canada.

Silent For Over a Century

Bell From Nelson's Flagship Used at Seamen's Benefit Concert in Liverpool

After a silence of 122 years, when it was a starting point in the British navy at the battle of Trafalgar, the bell of Lord Nelson's flagship Victory, rung once again in St. George's Hall, Liverpool, England. The bell was used to post out the watches at an entertainment given for the benefit of the Seamen's Institute under the auspices of the British Seamen's Institute. In past years the ship's bells of the famous sailing vessels Cutty Sark and U.S.S. Dunbar have been used on shipboard but the new bell was used this night for the first time by permission of the Admiralty.

Was Brainerd Mine Mule

Old Dick, known to the other drivers and company hands of the Yorktown mines in Pennsylvania, as one of the "brainerd" mine mules in the world, died recently. For over twenty years Old Dick was the mule that pulled the ore cars in the Yorktown mine, which was a very famous mine that was producing a great deal of money. It was said he could pull a load, or the mule, and he was a very old mule. He was a very old mule.

"His own husband a prospering business," the young bride was asked.

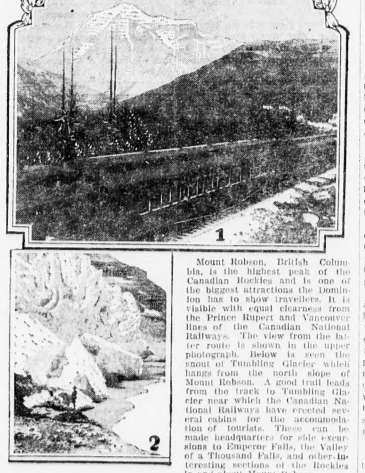

"Indeed he is," was the confident reply. "He must be taking lots of money, for he told me last night they had to appoint a receiver to assist him."

Program of Construction Work In Saskatchewan Proposed By The Canadian National Railway

The programme of construction work on the Canadian National Railways in Saskatchewan to be completed by August, 1926, and now having the consideration of Parliament, comprises the following lines:

Weyburn to Radville, 227 miles.—Two objects, the railway management states, would be attained by the construction of this line: first, relief would be given to the farmers along its route in respect to their wagon haul to market; and second, the communities Radville, Bengough, and Willowbunch, would be brought into more direct rail communication with the distributing centre of Weyburn, their rail distance to Weyburn being reduced by 132 miles. The route to Moose Jaw, would be 15 miles shorter and to Regina, 25 miles shorter. The line would run through a well settled grain-growing district and one in which wheat farming is increasing. The road haul of the farmers to market at present reaches 15 miles in the centre of the area, and the farmers are looking forward to the development of dairying if the rail line is reduced.

Willowbunch North-Westerly, 22 miles.—This is a development and colonization branch in the east-central part of the province. The purpose of the line is to give better railway communication to the district southwest of Willowbunch, lying between the Yorkton branch of the C.P.R. and the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Eventually it is planned to extend this line through the unincorporated area between the existing railways. With the completion of the Beaver Hills forest reserve, the area is well populated and good crops are generally obtained. It is felt that the shortening of the road to the farmers will give encouragement for further settlement and development.

Spirits to near Pease, 160 miles.—This line in the north eastern part of the province would open up a large area of good agricultural land and give railway transportation to the Shallow Settlements south of Pease. It would provide a shorter and better through route for traffic from the McLeod and Prince Albert districts to Winnipeg and the head of the lake. There is ample precipitation for crop raising and mixed farming in the area. The proposed new mileage would also form part of the link between Hudson Bay and the head of the line of the Canadian National in Southern Saskatchewan.

Poosane, Northern, 13 miles.—The purpose of this line is to open up and give rail communication to an important section of the Carleton River country. The territory on both sides of the Carleton River as far east as Kings 5, has a very good character of soil and is now being cleared off. This is one of the best grain growing districts in the West, having ample rainfall each year. There is considerable settlement and this will be greatly encouraged by better railway facilities.

Skullbush (or near Parkhill), Western, 27 miles.—For a considerable time the people living in the district to be traversed by the proposed line have been in need of railway facilities. There is a good settlement and development, there being a high proportion of excellent agricultural land for grain growing and mixed farming. The branch would, in the opinion of the Railway, would be justified by the cutting down of the wagon haul of the settlers and the

Leaves To Supervise Operations At Bay Government Engineer Will Get Party Settled Into Work of Deciding on Port

Russell Yull, Ottawa, Canadian government engineer, has gone to the summer investigating the merits of Churchill as a port, but will not himself remain there that length of time. The party had already moved ahead, and he was making the trip to see it get settled into its work. Twelve or fourteen men have gone with him. They and their equipment was transported from the end of steel to Churchill by aeroplane, and they will remain at the bay until fall.

Mr. Yull declines to make any comment on his three years at Nelson, to draw any comparisons between Nelson and Churchill, or to mark on the advantage of either port or on the feasibility of the Hudson Bay route at all, or the things that would have to be taken into consideration at Churchill. He said materials were perhaps the most important. They had never been taken into consideration. The mileage of the railroad to that point and the cost of construction were other matters to be considered.

Of Nelson Mr. Yull would not say anything—the work done there was in good shape. When it was under way there was no thought that it would be left for ten years and no preparation had been made to meet such conditions. It had not been intended to postpone—It was not a consideration, as time went on and it stood today in splendid condition.

Something New For Berlin First Ice Cream Soda Fountain Makes Big Hit

The American soda fountain at Berlin has obtained a foothold in Berlin. Refreshment of almost every other sort in the world has been long obtainable here, but not until recently has it been possible to buy an ice cream soda. There is now a full-fledged fountain, with complete signs on the building reading "Soda Fountain—Ice Cream."

Curiously, the neighborhood selected of Nehalem one of the least frequented by Americans of any of the central districts. It is directly opposite the railway terminal where the hands passengers from Southern Germany. The arrivals from the home of good Bavarian beer take very kindly to the "new" American beverage even in the present cold weather.

Plays Study of Evolution Should Not Be Taught In Canada's Schools Says Winnipeg Lawyer

Believing that evolution is a question of outstanding importance for the consideration of the federal and provincial governments of Canada, R. J. Banner, K.C., eminent criminal lawyer of Winnipeg, favors abolition of the subject from the public school curricula.

"In fact, in evolution, Mr. Banner said, tended to atheism.

"If all the people of Canada were atheists would be taken to the streets."

"The fact is, a nation of people must be taken to the streets from monkeys I cannot understand. They are quite welcome to teach their children in this manner, but I am sure mine were not monkeys."

Girl's Jest Starts Apple Industry

And This Year the American Northwest Will Celebrate Centennial of Founding of British Columbia. Because just one hundred years ago a pretty English girl would have her little joke, the centenary of the American Northwest apple industry is to be celebrated at Castanet, Wash., this spring. From that joke the Northwest has built an apple industry and does all the producing. When somebody complains Soviet Russia replied: "Why, that's just a political party, like the Democrats in America or the Conservatives in England."

It sounds all right until one dies into the facts. There are two parties in America and three or four in England, but only one in Russia.

So far Soviet Russia is concerned, it knows but one political system and tolerates but one faction, both of which are represented by the Third International. Until it sees itself that from alliance it will have to assume responsibility for the war. The Third International convalesces at by way of stirring up trouble in other countries.

From that romantic start grew the Northwest apple industry.

Is Canadian Better Farmer?

Washington Paper Refers to Their Successful Competition With American Agriculturist. "Is the Canadian a better farmer than his fellow agriculturist on the United States side of the boundary?" The Washington Post asks this question in regard to the potato. The Congress of the Farm Relief Bill which the President has vetoed.

The newspaper finds it "difficult to say, but it is certain that the Canadian farmer can compete with his American cousin in the wheat market on this side of the line against the duty of 45 cents per bushel." Yet the Canadian farmer does compete in the market, the Post says, and some official source of export figures for milling, re-export and domestic use.

"It can not be claimed," the Post goes on, "that the Canadian farmer has any advantages over the agriculturist in the United States. The climate of the Canadian wheat region differs very little, if at all, from the climate of the American wheat belt, especially the spring wheat region. Yet the Canadian grower has not asked his government to finance his operations."

Scientist Has New Theory Important Pronouncement on Origin of Man is Looked For

Dr. Arthur Keith, world famous anthropologist, is preparing a lecture (for delivery before the Royal Anthropological Institute, which is held at almost certain to constitute the most important pronouncement on the origin and development of man since Darwin's response to his theory of descent.

Scientists are expecting him to suggest modification of the Darwinian theory, which would emphasize man's many animal and human qualities, contradicting the old theory of his straight descent along one branch from animals.

A Smart Daytime Dress for the Junior

A striking effect is achieved by the use of two materials in fashioning this smart and practical dress. View A. The skirt has inverted plaits at front and back and is joined to a yoke. There is a convertible collar, long light-fitted sleeves finished with cuffs, patch pockets and a belt. View B. It is the same dress made of one material, having the cuffs on the short sleeves and edge of the yoke simply bound. No. 1529 is in size 8, 10, 12 and 14 inches. Size 10 years requires 2 1/2 yards 34-inch material, or 2 1/2 yards 34-inch material, or 2 1/2 yards 34-inch material, or 2 1/2 yards 34-inch material.

Soviet Purchases in Canada

London, Kan., trade delegate for the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, has reported that the Soviet Union has ordered for $1,000,000 worth of lumber (which had been placed by Russian interests with a Canadian firm). Mr. Kovalev stated that large quantities of other goods were being made in the Dominion.

Possession of an Authority is regarded by the natives of French West Africa as a mark of distinction

Hence the native workmen are its master to purchase one or more medals.

The row is a factory or manufacturing plant that runs 24 hours a day 7 days a week, and turns out a product that is good for meat or back.

The first stage of an investigation into a theory that the Americans have been drifting westward has been completed. Canada and 23 other countries participated in the scientific effort to prove the theory first laid by Wegener, an Australian physicist.

Briefly, the theory is that in the progress of the ages the Americas have been gradually drifting westward. It is claimed that evidence of a coast range of mountains extending throughout the whole length of these continents is simply the effect of buckling or crushing at the forward edge due to this drift. The present rate of the drift is estimated at one metre a year.

Through an international arrangement 50 stations distributed in 39 countries were set up in a line north and south by astronomical observations coupled with radio time signals. The results from all these stations, having been determined, it will be possible by a repetition of the observations at some future date definitely to settle the question of continental drift.

Canada took part in the investigation by occupying two stations, one at Ottawa and the other at Vancouver. At each station two telescopes were constantly in use as well as auxiliary equipment—clocks, chronometers and wireless instruments. At Ottawa astronomical observations were obtained on 23 nights, and at Vancouver on 24. At each place wireless time signals from five different recording stations were received and measured at all hours of the day and night, the total number of distinct signals amounting to over 1,200. Observations to determine the relative personal equations of the four observers engaged were made at the Dominion Observatory, Ottawa, both before and after the main series of observations.

Other investigations have established many favorable points in connection with the theory of drift. It has been determined that the substratum underlying the surface crust of the earth is not absolutely rigid but is susceptible, under the action of long-continued stresses, to gradual deformation. This continents may be regarded as drifting on a substratum which, when considered over long periods of time, acts like a semi-plastic field. It has also been proved that at certain times there has been close association between the forms of plant and animal life on the American and European continents.

Improved Table Corn

Three Varieties of Sweet Corn Suitable for the West. Three varieties of sweet corn, Pickaway, Hanning and Early Malcom, produced by the Horticultural Experiment Station, are now available for sale. The varieties are very good, particularly for the cooler parts of the country. Pickaway is rather dwarf in habit, but for its ears close to the ground. It is ready for use the kernels are white with a slight purplish tinge, broad, and very tender. Hanning is a very early variety, ready for use the kernels are white with a slight purplish tinge, broad, and very tender. Early Malcom is a dwarf in habit, was produced from a cross between Pickaway and Hanning. It is a very early variety, ready for use the kernels are white with a slight purplish tinge, broad, and very tender.

CHAPTER XXXI

The Challenge

Two cars were speeding along the highway road that climbed the mountain side. Kenneth's red roadster, with its master at the wheel and Joanna seated snugly beside him in the open rear seat, glided elegantly from the pines of Monte Carlo. Into the disturbed air came that narrowed road, and then a path sloping sharply toward the summit of the hill. Ahead of them Joanna, pulled in toward herself, in a dark dress, sat beside an evil, heavy-lidded man whose steel eyes and much larger car than Kenneth's. The purple mist, laid

When Antonio had made a turn with a steersman and a knowledge of the bank which stamped him as familiar with the road he followed, he observed.

"There are few women in this town, Master, for whom I take my seat or my men into danger. Your wife, I think, is the only one who does not let our fate influence them." The house of Kenneth's roadster suddenly revolved around picking its way slowly but bravely. Ahead of the car, a black dog, a dog of the yellow blood, stood on the side of the road, its head turned toward the car. "What was that?" Joanna asked. "The bulldog at La Turbie vilyou to throw your colors at my feet and challenge me to fasten them to my shield—I can. I've never seen a man like that before from a woman. They've done it, of course, but they thought they were funny about it." "I don't believe in being funny," she returned. "It used to be the fashion, and the custom, I know. But what's the use? Any woman always knows what another woman thinks. And every man knows what his brother wants. They pretty well know what another man thinks about each other—every woman and every man. So much has gone wrong in the world, it seems to me, because people have always tried to make a mystery and a game out of the plain and commonplace. It's more fun to be honest. If men are playthings, that's why they are. That's the breach through which a man conquers her, if she's weak. So why have the war? I think it's better to stand out in the open—better for her, I mean, she can't win what's coming at her, then, and be ready for it."

"So you have decided to put your arms down and tell me I may have whatever I want? But why, if it's not asking an advantage, have you chosen me?" As he was away, at three, she considered this quietly. He walked apparently intent upon keeping his car steady away from the edge at the outer side of the road. At last she said: "It's because you're straight, Roddy. Besides, according to your own standards, you've never been in love. You've never loved. You've never loved your desire of sex since that night at Yvonne's back in New York when I asked you, to Roddy's accusing kiss from my lips with a warning one look, yours knew enough then, thanks to what I'd learned, to turn to the left by the feel of your arm that you would be determined to have me up, if you could, with your other troubles as you would any woman who made herself interesting to you. And you've even tried to deceive me. You've even said, 'I'm in love with you.' Now I'm wondering if, after all, I haven't been deceiving myself."

She paused, but Kenneth did not speak. He thought she would go on, and presently she said:

"John has done a big thing. When his spirit came to him he got up like we are going now, through the mist, straight toward the end of a beautiful rainbow. He told me I've been just a baby—and I suppose he's right. His pride and his triumph, that's it in his being me he loves, he says. I've wanted my life, my life with him, with that, Roddy, I'm convinced I'm not worthy of Roddy. I wouldn't not like you, Roddy, because he wants to marry me. And I suppose I'm not worthy of whoever it is who's not worthy, for I've never loved him. So it may be that I'm worth only the kind of thing you've been wanting to give me—the one that you love, Yvonne."

"When I was twenty-seven of the girls I know I thought I was smart. To be told enough to be told everything I was a girl, that I enjoyed being a girl, undisturbed to

I know you like the girl, but I want to know if you and what you represent to me. If you do, then I'll be happy to know you; everybody else."

When she finished she put her hand against Kenneth's coat. He felt it slipping from his coat pocket and rising there. When he would have spoken he realized that a long time had passed; that he had been looking himself silly, trying to be as good as the girl, and that he was in his pocket and determine whether it really quietly, or (rem. led.

When Laurier Was Unknown

People of Quebec Were Slow in Recognizing His Ability

The House of Commons was quick to sense the talent of Wilfrid Laurier, and to give him the opportunity as to his brilliant future, the people of his own province were not so quick, at first. When the tall, slim young lawyer from Arthursville sought re-election in a Dominion election, after appointment to the Dominion cabinet in 1907 he failed to win. Of course, the Government had to have a report, so Laurier was sent to Quebec to see if he could be elected there. He was to represent for the next two years.

When Laurier came to Quebec to carry on his campaign he was a young man, but he had a few years of experience. He was not without a certain amount of success. He was the present Senator J. P. B. Casgrain, who was to be an intimate of the future leader for nearly a half-century.

Senator Casgrain told the Montreal Reform Club the other day of Laurier's coming to Quebec. Casgrain was then and advised his Quebec friends the very convincing from Lewis, charged him on his arrival, then lodged him at once and showed him again and again at successive stages of his message in the city, in order to take his spirit and create the impression that he was popular at that time. Eight years ago, on Feb. 17, the election passed away, having won not only Quebec but the Dominion in numerous provinces, and leaving the revived high honors in London, the Capital of the Empire—Toronto (Globe).

Cause of Asthma. No one can say with certainty exactly what causes the establishment of asthmatic conditions, but the stress of the nervous system, from grain and various irritants may set up a trouble which is able to be treated. Every day there is a state preparation such as Dr. J. D. Bell's "Asthma Remedy." This remedy may exist as a cause, but there will be no trouble if the remedy is used. It is a remedy which has freed a generation of asthmatic victims from this scourge of the human race. It is sold everywhere.

Russian Peasants Unhappily

Living Under the Terror of a New Despotism

The peasants of Russia are living in the same darkness and under a new terror and despotism. Most of them do not realize what would be a more practical form of existence. The Soviet Government does not seem to understand them either, thus leaving the most important problem unsolved. The Soviet Government buys tractors and modern farm machinery to help the peasants. It supplies a great mechanical need. But the need that arises from the peasant's heart, the desire to own the land that he tills, that need has not been met. No wonder that the peasant are again restive, and even openly defiant of the despotism of the Communists, who only a million or less in number, hold in their fists the rest of the Russian nation.—Count Leo Tolstoy in The Outlook.

Is Your Stomach Troubling You?

Mrs. W. H. Skyring

Guelph, Ont.—"There is nothing better as a building tonic and labor medicine than Dr. Fernald's Golden Medical Discovery. Several times when I was run down, suffered from weak stomach, thin and impoverished blood, I took the Golden Medical Discovery and always obtained good results. It enriched my blood, relieved me of the weak stomach, built me up in health and made me feel like a new person. I also found it a splendid tonic to take following motherhood to give me strength. I am now recommended Dr. Fernald's Golden Medical Discovery to all my friends. I am W. H. Skyring, 62 Nottingham St."

"It's a treacherous atmosphere," he admonished her. "One can never predict the next day's consequences."

"Consequences are uncertain things, to make into a prophecy, aren't they?" she asked. He studied her intently, peering at her through the fog. He saw the vague shadowy look in her eyes, shadows that came and then disappeared as if they were reflections of the mist that had reached a haven of brown depths.

"Are you wondering," he asked, "what is in the outcome of our invitation to a battle between us tonight? If you are, I think there will be one thing or another: pain, gloom, restful, beautiful; or, as far as an unconverted, evil soul, in that event, meaning to you?" She was silent, motionless, for a time. Then: "How are we going about it, Roddy? You are to tell me that you love me, want me and will give all those things of education for which you are distinguished. That kind of course, I am to measure you, and measure myself. That will be the obvious program. But there must be some new notes. What shall it be?"

He guided the car back into the road, satisfied that the bigger, that had been ahead of the car, would have gone a safe distance beyond. "You are, in yourself, the one overwhelming new note," he declared then. "You and the white of

NEWS ITEM

The lecture given by Mr.
Hibbert on "The International Federation of Youth," was greatly appreciated by the Kitchener High School Students.

The subject of the debate scheduled for March 11, 1927, was, "Resolved that Asiatics should be excluded from Canada." The Judges gave their decision in favor of the negative side.

We greatly regret the departure of Miss Neomi Boyd from our midst. Our best wishes go with her to her future residence.

The Trials of a Teacher.

Mr. Shaw, while instructing the Grade IX class in Elementary Science, said, "Greta, what is meant by the law of gravitation?"

Greta, "Gravitation is the force of attraction, which prevents us from falling off the earth."

James, "Please, sir, how did we stay an before the law was passed?"

Mr. Shaw (in chemistry class)
"Now, I am about to show you a wonderful experiment, one small mistake would blow me above the clouds. Now, please step a little closer, so that you can follow me better."

Social Events

The play entitled, "The Jury of Our Peers," will have a far-reaching effect upon the lives of some of the Kitchener High School Students, therefore we have reserved it for the concluding item. The play was the most brilliant social event of the season. The success was probably due to the parts played by the students. However, the time employed in rehearing seriously interfered with their studies. Consequently, with the results of the midsummer exams, we expect a sudden rush to Hollywood.

The snow storm of the past week end has delayed work on the land, making it later than in former years.

The Glories of Eastertide

Easter is the emancipation anniversary of the Christian world. Next to the advent the most epochal day and worthy of signal remembrance. It brings renewed inspiration and faith in God.

Every swelling bud and new born grass and flowers reminds us of the parallel in nature's realm to the Resurrection—and gives rein to renewed thoughts and faith, which lift us out of the winter's rut of pessimism and inaction.

The world beckons the sun.

ture lover at Easter-tide as she takes on new raiment. The sun in new warmth gives inspiration and new life and the singing of birds is again to be heard. Over all the earth the season is typically true to the great central fact of Christ-ianity—the Resurrection.
